Brief Introduction

Just when you thought it was safe to enter the ever expanding world of Internet marketing, along comes another wave of dirty tricks designed to take your breath, and money away from you. Savvy little buggers!

But, here I am again, to unravel the mysteries of marketing and help you decipher the money sucking codes. A lot of the things you will read here will not shock you, but WILL open your eyes up. Then again, maybe the information inside this quick little guide will. One never knows, does one? ;-)

In "normal" non-sugar coated, "un-fluffy" style, this handy report won't waste your time and take you on an hour long journey just to get to the good stuff. If you're looking for that type of thing, then by all means, rush right out via the nearest web browser and look for those 500 page "treasure hunt" style ebooks that will take you forever to find the good information hidden within all those fluffed up pages. And be sure you pay $97 for it too. Because that's all you'll be doing.

Read through this short report and you'll know how to spot THOSE money suckers as well. I promise you this, your money spent will NOT be in vain with the Ultimate Dirty Internet Marketing Tricks series. In fact, you may be able to start SAVING yourself some of your hard earned dollars and make some sense in the process.

As before, in the original Ultimate Dirty Tricks series, the point of this report is to essentially cut to the chase and reveal all the secret little "tricks of the trade" that crafty Internet Marketers use to make those "not in the know" to take the action they desire. . . .to SPEND MONEY!

If you use the methods, or for lack of a better word, tricks, explained throughout these pages, as the IM'ers do, then you too can see a serious increase in your online profitability. But, not stopping there, these techniques can also be useful offline too.

So, for those of you who are active in the Internet Marketing field, you may recognize many of these little crafty gems but may have, in your haste, overlooked them. Or not given them much thought. And, for those of you who are brand new to Internet Marketing, this report will give you a bit of a decryption method when it comes to discovering what makes YOU want to spend money, and how not to feel pressured in to doing it when you can't, or don't want to.

Knowing the tricks ahead of time brings you that much closer to winning the money zapping battle with the army of intelligent Internet Marketers ready to shout "Victory!" with every credit card swipe. And maybe, just maybe, become one of the "Victory!" shouters yourself ;-).

1. Everything Old Is New, Again & Again

This dirty little stinker revives itself as if by some form of Marketing magic. It cannot be stopped! This sneaky trick follows the same concept of the "hand-me-down". You remember this don't you? You know, when your older sibling would outgrow their clothes or shoes and you would get them "handed-down" to you due to lack of money? Ah ha! This is the SAME concept, just with digital products.

How can that be you ask? Simple really. Let me explain. . .

Author comes up with a new product.

Sells product to other interested parties.

Product gets old.

Product is forgotten about by even those who first bought it.

Then someone gets a hold of it. Could even be the original author.

Knows it's an older product, but decides to "re-vamp" it.

Thus, an old forgotten product that is still useful gets re-announced and made re-valuable.

In other words, you take a product and give it a make-over. Give it a new e-cover(electronic cover), make a few changes to the interior of the ebook file, and viola! A new, yet old, product emerges giving you a chance to make the older product have a greater value.

Of course, this dirty trick also works wonders with Private Label Products too. In fact, it works BETTER. Why? Well, for starters, you can re-word the entire product if you want to. Add YOUR name as the original author, and slip in all your affiliate links to make the product a "streaming" money producer.

Okay, so what's a "streaming" money producer?

A "streaming" money producer is any product that can generate more than ONE source of

Ultimate Dirty Internet Marketing Tricks
